Day ticket

Your colour-coded wristband entitles you to stay on through the night if you like. You can camp here till 11.30am the next morning (midday on Monday 10th).

If you want to stay on after your time's expired, please go to the ticket office to pay the supplement and get a new wristband.

Weekend camping

You're welcome to park by your tent, as long as you don't move your vehicle again until Monday morning. We don't want squashed children.

But if you'll want to use your vehicle before Monday morning, use the Day car park.

A longer stay?

If you want come here earlier than Friday 7th or stay on after Monday 10th, that's fine; £10 per night per tent/van, payable on the spot.

To book, email caroline@thelabyrinth.org.uk.

Food and drink on site – to buy (really good) food onsite, for breakfast, lunch, dinner, see www.bluesand roots.co.uk (scroll down).

You're welcome to bring your own as well. If you want to bring a barbecue set that's fine as long as it's contained, and on legs.

Local food shop – nearest is a basic campsite shop a mile away along our (fairly level) narrow lane, open 8.30–11 and 5. For a greater range, a (licensed) village shop at Nomansland, 1.5 miles for a superb range of food and drink, Tredinnick Farm Shop near Widegates, 2.5 miles, usually open till 6pm.

Disabled?

Welcome! The site is reasonably level, and we'll have a disabled toilet.

This is a No Glass festival

We don't want glass splinters to slash people's feet now and in the years to come, so:

- In the festival site: no glass at all (except spectacles). You can buy one of our (very reasonably priced) cups with your drink, and reuse it for years if you like.
- In the campsite: no drinking glasses. Glass bottles are okay if you're careful – but please take them away with you.

Children and young adults

Under-18s are welcome with parents/ guardians.

Under-12s must be supervised by their parents/guardians at all times, even when doing children's workshops and activities.

Your dogs are welcome so long as you:

- a) keep each dog on a lead attached to a human or a nearby fixture, and
- b) pick up dog dirt and dispose of it safely.

Last year there was some difficulty as some dogs ran loose and we couldn't identify their owners. So this year each dog will get a collar tag on entry, to bear the owner's name and mobile number.

Toilets

There will be long-drop toilets, pissoires and Andyloos. Small children? Please bring your own child seat.

Showers, washing facilities

There are some mains water standpipes. We're thinking about showers – but no promises.

Rubbish!

We'll have a recycling scheme. Please be ready to use it – that'll slow the landfill site filling up and a new one being found.

We do love to be beside the seaside ...

We're by the sea – but getting there is a steep 20-minute walk. Don't let your kids think this is a beach weekend.
